and compounding needs.

creating solutions

At The Medicine Shoppe® Pharmacy, our pharmacist has been specially trained to use the latest pharmaceutical knowledge and state-of-the-art technology to prepare customized medications for your patient's special needs.

We can compound medications for pets, exotic birds, horses and even zoo animals. Uses for compounded medication include:

- When an animal isn't feeling well. In this case, it may be more effective to use a topical product than an orally administered medication.
- When the exact dosage isn't commercially available.
- Custom-flavoured medications that are acceptable to pets.
- If the pet owner has special needs, another dosage form may be easier to administer than what is commercially available.

There are many reasons
why you may request compounded medications.

UNAVAILABLE MEDICATION

Manufacturers sometimes quit making medicines or dosage forms that are in low demand. If you recommend a medication that is unavailable, your Medicine Shoppe® Pharmacist may be able to obtain the chemicals to compound a medication containing the active ingredients you need.

CUSTOM FLAVOURING

We can prepare custom-flavoured medications that are acceptable to pets. Even animals within a species can have different taste preferences. It seems chicken, beef, and fish flavouring work for cats and dogs, and fruit works for birds.

We will work with the pet owner to determine the flavour most liked by the animal.

UNIQUE DOSAGE FORMS

One size doesn't fit all when it comes to animals and medication. The size of the dosage form is usually proportionate to the size of the animal. When the exact dosage size needed isn't commercially available, we can specially prepare the dosage to your specifications.

Or, if swallowing medications is a problem, they can be prepared as a liquid, topical, or food treat in order to medicate the animal. Most pet owners are more comfortable giving their pet a "treat" as opposed to a capsule.

SPECIAL MEDICATION NEEDS

At your Medicine Shoppe® Pharmacy, we realize that your client's medication needs are as unique as they are. If you have an animal with special medication needs, contact your Medicine Shoppe® Pharmacist to learn which specific compounding dosage forms are available.
